STILL RETREATING.

Russian Forces Pushing on to Mukden Impeded by Heavy Roads and Floods.

THE REAR GUARD CANNONADED.

Muscovites in Their Retreat Burned All the Railroad Bridges Over the Taitse River.

The Attack on Port Arthur Still Continues, and the Garrison Expects a General Land and Sea Attack on Wednesday.

New York, Sept. 7.—The dearth of immediate press and official dispatches from the actual seat of the far eastern struggles continues. It is admitted by the Russian war office that no telegrams whatever were received from Gen. Kuropatkin bearing Tuesday's date, the last message to the emperor from the general being dated September 5, and briefly telling that the army was advancing northward, that it had extricated itself from a dangerous position, that there was constant cannonading of the rear guard, and that the losses on that day were but 100. The situation, in the light of the latest information may be summed up as follows:

The Russian forces are pushing on to Mukden, greatly impeded by heavy roads and floods, conducting an orderly retreat, and followed step by step by the Japanese. Details of the fighting and of the exact position of the opposing armies are lacking.

The report that Kuropatkin's rear guard has been annihilated, and that Russian forces are in danger of being surrounded, is denied by the Russian general staff. The Russian war office is entirely confident that the retreat is slowly but surely being effected.

From Tokio comes the official report that the bulk of the Russian forces are still at Yentai.

The Japanese field marshal, in an extended report of the fighting up to September 4, says that the Russians burned all the railroad bridges over the Taitse river, and predicts that while the Japanese list of casualties is not yet complete, the losses will prove heavy.

Viceroy Alexieff is on his way from Harbin to Mukden.

The heads of Kuropatkin's long commissary trains have passed through Mukden, and are continuing northward.

The attack on Port Arthur continues, the Chinese arriving at Chee Foo say the Russian garrison expects a general land and sea attack Wednesday.

Mukden, Sept. 7.—A Russian correspondent supplies the following: "Our retreat is being carried out under heavy pressure and with the Japanese on our heels. The task is additionally difficult owing to the terrible condition of the roads and the rivers, which are flooded."

"The fighting has now been almost continuous since August 24, and how much longer it will last is impossible to say, as the initiative is in the hands of the Japanese."

"The number of lives sacrificed, and the loss of supplies by burning, bridges being blown up, etc., can only be explained when we once more have concentrated, and this will occupy us for some days."

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

Rev. Father Stanton Has Discovered a Large Number of New Parasites.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Rev. Father Stanton, S. J., who has been in the Philippines for the past three years engaged in scientific research, has discovered a large number of new parasites in the islands. He has collected no less than 152 new species of hymenoptera. Some of these were unlike any heretofore known, and were classified under three new genera. All of the specimens have been sent to Dr. Ashmead, of the National museum, who will issue a description list of them.

PLAYING WAR.

The Blue and the Brown Armies Were in "Fierce Combat."

Headquarters, Gainesville, Va., Sept. 7.—The blue and the brown armies were in fierce combat when halted by the chief umpire at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Previous to this the commanders of the two forces had spent the time maneuvering for position. The net result of the day is that Gen. Grant, who is charged with forcing back Gen. Bell's brown army through Thoroughfare Gap, has not been able to break the line of defense established by Gen. Bell during the early hours of the morning.

The northern half of Gen. Bell's defense line is composed of infantry and artillery. Gen. Grant opposed this force in the extreme north early in the day, but with no success. After five companies of the blue army had been ruled off the field for attacking in the open, a strong concealed defense, hostilities ceased for nearly three hours. During this time Gen. Grant swung the bulk of his infantry and artillery to the south, in an effort to flank Gen. Bell's line of infantry on the right. Gen. Bell, however, learned of the movements of his adversary, and rushed up his reserves to the threatened point.

The two forces came in contact shortly after 2 o'clock, artillery being brought into play by the brown army, and rapid fire guns spoke on both sides, while volley after volley of musket fire added to the sound of battle, which could be heard through the Virginia hills for miles.

GUESTS OF THE NATION.

The Members of the Inter-Parliamentary Union on a Tour.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The members of the Inter-Parliamentary union, a body comprising delegates from England and from every legislative body in Europe, were the guests of the United States Tuesday, when a tour of the country began under the auspices of this government. Distinguished members of the various parliaments of the old world to the number of 185, were officially welcomed to these shores at the military academy. They made the trip up the Hudson river from New York on board the United States revenue cutters Mohawk and Gresham. Escorting the little revenue flotilla was the cruiser Topoka.

At the military academy the nation's distinguished guests disembarked to the firing of the national salute of 21 guns.

It is intended to make the day not only a credit to Chicago, but to give the people of this city and state an opportunity to see the fair under the most favorable conditions.

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—T. C. Benbow, a Montana aeronaut, is the first man to sail an airship over the World's Fair aeronautic concourse. KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The 29th Triennial Conclave Inaugurated at San Francisco With a Grand Parade.

THE AGE OF CHIVALRY RECALLED.

Ten Thousand Men, Who Received the Golden Spurs of Knighthood, Marched Through City.

Joseph Leath, of Knoxville, Tenn., Dropped Dead During the Parade, and Sir Knight Simonoff Was Thrown From His Horse.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—The 29th triennial conclave of the Order of Knights Templar was inaugurated on Tuesday with a grand parade, which brought into contrast the 13th and 20th centuries, and recalled the age of chivalry, when Richard Coeur de Leon and Saladin battled for possession of the Holy City. With glittering gontafons, with richly caparisoned horses prancing in gay accoutrements, 10,000 men, who have passed through the vigil of the squire and have symbolically received the golden spurs of knighthood, marched with nodding white and black plumes, with white maltese crosses on their left shoulders, with swords flashing, and with the banner of the cross flung to the breeze, over seven miles of the city's gaily decorated and thronged streets, as marched the knights and squires of old through the streets of Lyons and Tournai to the rescue of the Holy sepulchre. A striking feature of Tuesday's parade was the presence in the line of the earl of Euston and several other officials of the templar order, representing the Knights Templar of England and Wales. Their distinctive uniforms attracted special attention. The day was exceedingly warm, and the long march was wearisome to the older sir knights. A great many dropped out before passing the reviewing stand.

The parade was one of the finest ever seen in San Francisco. It occupied nearly three hours in passing a given point, though at no time was there any protracted delay. The advance along the line of march of the more largely represented eastern commanderies was signalized by continuous cheers and when the band heading the Kentucky contingent struck up "Dixie," the enthusiasm of the spectators was unbounded.

Joseph Leath, of Couver de Leon commandery, Knoxville, Tenn., dropped dead during the parade, while starting to do a knightly act. He was riding in a carriage and noticing a comrade who seemed to be almost overcome, he stepped from his carriage to offer him a seat. As he touched the ground he fell dead from an apoplectic stroke. Mr. Simonoff, a local sir knight, was thrown from his horse and was severely injured.

The business session of the grand commandery began Tuesday, a short meeting in the afternoon, at which the reports of the grand officers were made.

The night program included receptions by a number of commanderies, and a reception to Grand Commander Stoddard.

THE VERMONT ELECTION.

Bell, Republican, Elected Governor by About 32,000 Plurality.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 7.—Election returns from 200 out of the 246 cities and towns of the state, give Bell, Republican, 38,860; Porter, democrat, 12,892. The same places, in 1900, gave Stiekney, republican, 38,948; Senter, democrat, 13,556. These figures show a slight falling off in the vote of both parties, and indicate the election of Bell for governor by about 32,000 plurality.

PREFERS DEATH TO DISGRACE.

Attempted to Commit Suicide in His Cell at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 7.—J. A. Kendall, leading merchant of Wilmore, attempted to commit suicide by hanging himself in the police station Tuesday night. He had been drunk and was locked up to sober up, but not arrested. He was found by a sergeant with one end of a necktie tied around his neck and the other end around the top of the cell. He said he would rather be dead than have the disgrace of being locked up. He was taken home Tuesday night by his son, the Rev. J. H. Kendall, a prominent Methodist preacher, who has been attending the conference here. This is the sixth attempted suicide in Lexington in four days. The first three attempts, two men and a woman, were successful, they taking the poison route. The fourth attempt was made by the reform school girl, who is getting well. The fifth and sixth attempts were made by hanging in the police station and were unsuccessful.

He May Be Called to Be the Next Episcopal Bishop of Kentucky.

The diocesan council of the Episcopal church will meet in Calvary church, Louisville, on September 21, and it was said Tuesday that Dr. Thomas may be nominated. It is said that the Louisville delegates have practically agreed upon Dr. Thomas, although no definite action has been taken. EIGHT WERE KILLED

Wabash Passenger Train Bound For St. Louis Was Wrecked Near Pendleton, Mo.

MORE THAN 50 PERSONS INJURED.

Day Coach Broke Loose and Plunged Down an Embankment Dragging the Diner With It

The Latter Crashed on Top of the Coach, and the Majority of Those Killed and Seriously Hurt Were in That Car.

Moberly, Mo., Sept. 7.—The south-bound Wabash passenger train, which left Des Moines for St. Louis at 6:40 a. m., was wrecked Tuesday near Pendleton, Mo., killing eight passengers and injuring more than 50 others. Immediately upon receipt of the news of the wreck, a relief train was sent out, and the dead and more seriously injured were brought back here.

The train, which was composed of an engine, baggage and smoking cars, day coach, diner and Pullman sleeper, was well filled, it being estimated by Wabash officials that there were about 500 persons on board. The train was running at its scheduled speed when the accident occurred.

The day coach left the track, and, breaking loose from the baggage and smoking cars, plunged down an embankment, dragging the diner with it. The Pullman did not leave the track.

The heavy dining car crashed on top of the coach, and the majority of those killed and injured were passengers in the latter. There was no one in the dining car, it is stated, except the employes, who escaped with injuries. The cause of the wreck has not been determined, but it is thought that a broken wheel derailed the coach, which jumped the track.

STRIKE BREAKERS KILLED.

A Barkeeper is Believed to Be Guilty of Their Murder.

East St. Louis, Sept. 7.—According to statements made Tuesday night to Chief of Police Purdy by Louis Kane, formerly a barkeeper in the Yellow Dog saloon, the latter is guilty of killing two men found dead under mysterious circumstances near Black bridge Monday night.

Kane, in his statement, says that his reason for killing Reynolds, a white man, and Green, a Negro, was that he was formerly employed as a butcher, and, although he had surrendered his card, he was a strong union man, and had used every means in his power to further the cause of unionism.

MUTILATED BODY FOUND.

Evidence of a Sensational Murder Has Come to Light.

Antigo, Wis., Sept. 7.—Evidence of one of the most sensational murders in the history of this vicinity came to light Tuesday, when the mutilated body of Stephen Daugh's was found among the ashes of his home, about three miles east of this city. Daugh's was an old man, and had lived alone, and is supposed to have had a large amount of money in the house. In addition to his accumulations was supposed to be money from the sale of his farm recently. The strongest evidence of foul play was a hole in the temple made by some blunt instrument.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 7.—A small man, who was watching a gambling game in a downtown establishment Tuesday afternoon, waited until the game was nearly over, and then, drawing a pistol, announced that he would receive all the money. The man then disappeared, and has not been heard of since.

ROOSEVELT, BELITTLES AND DE- FAMES PRECESSORS.

The surprise of one who loves his country and cherishes the memory of the great men who have honored it will not surpass his humiliation when he is reminded of the vicious, persistent and unwarranted attacks which President Roosevelt in his books has made upon so many of his distinguished predecessors. In his "Winning of the West," "Naval War of 1812" and "Thomas H. Benton" he denounces Thomas Jefferson as "vacillating," "timid," "shifty doctrinaire," "incompetent," "ungrateful," intriguing against Washington, "secretly aiding French," his influence "distinctly evil," declaring that he was "constitutionally unable to put the proper value on truthfulness" and that he "was the most incapable Executive that ever filled the Presidential chair."

He denounces Madison as "timid," "incapable," "a ridiculously incompetent leader for a war with Great Britain," his administration as "feeble" and accuses him of "imbecile incapacity" and of bringing "shame and disgrace to America" in the war of 1812.

He denounces Monroe as a mere "figurehead" President, with "no special ability," and declares that his administration as Secretary of War under Madison was a "triumph of imbecility to the last."

He denounces Andrew Jackson as a "figurehead," "ignorant," "managed by politicians," "low politicians molded him to their will," and declared that his administration "corrupted the public service in every way." He denounces Van Buren as sordid, odious, corrupt, declaring that "he faithfully served the mammon of unrighteousness," that "he succeeded because of and not in spite of his moral shortcomings."

He denounces Harrison, Taylor and Fillmore as "small Presidents." He denounces Tyler as a "politician of monumental littleness," and declares that he was "peevish and puzzeheaded" and that to "call him a mediocre man is unwarranted flattery."

He denounces Polk as "the very smallest, excepting Tyler, of the line of small Presidents who came in between Jackson and Lincoln" and declared that he gathered to him the "vicious, corrupt and criminal."

He denounces Pierce as a "truckling, time-serving, Northern politician" and a "small politician of low capacity and mean surroundings."

He denounces Buchanan as a "truckling, time-serving politician, fit representative of the sordid and odious political organization of Pennsylvania."

"One who has such a profound contempt for those who have gone before him can not hope," says a Washington City writer, "to merit the respect of those who shall come after him. I know not what place in the life of our Republic posterity may accord him, but whatever he has done, whatever he may do, one thing is certain, history will mark Theodore Roosevelt out in unique and shameless solitude as the relentless defamer of our nation's Presidents."

The Barlow Minstrels were greeted by an enthusiastic audience at the opera house last night. H. W. Rathbone of Pensacola, N. C., is the possessor of a freak mule, which was born on his place recently. The animal has seven distinct hoofs—three on the left front leg, two on the right front leg, and the usual number on each of the hind legs. The hoofs on the front legs are all of equal size and all rest on the ground, branching taking place at the pastern joint. The mule seems to place as much weight on one hoof as on another, and all are perfectly formed. The animal is healthy and can move about as well as if the three extra hoofs were not present.—Exchange.

The Invention of the Age—Call

 Marvel.

In appearance it is only a handsome Mahogany Piano, such as you see in many fine homes, but with it, those who are fine performers, can produce a volume of harmony beyond the ordinary piano, while those who are unable to play one single note of music by simply pressing a concealed button can play the most difficult composition of the old masters, as only a Paderewski can. Your friends will think that you have become a fine performer in a night. It is wonderful.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Young Man Struck By An Electric Car at the Brick Yard Entrance and Perhaps Fatally Injured.

Edgar Carr aged about seventeen, whose home is at Rectorville and who was employed at the Sphar Brick Works at the eastern terminus of the car line, was struck by an electric car yesterday at the noon hour and received injuries which may result fatally.

Carr has a half-brother who runs on a C. and O. freight and hearing a train approach, he and a companion named Tolle rushed to the entrance to greet his relative as he passed. Tolle had just gotten over the street railway track when he noticed the approach of an electric car. He tried to wave Carr back, who was slightly in the rear, but it was too late, and he was struck and knocked partly under the car, the wheels passing over the left leg and inflicting other serious injuries about the head and body. Motorman John Gillespie thought Tolle was signaling him to make a stop and had slowed down considerably, else Carr would have met instant death.

The unfortunate young man was carried to a house nearby and made as comfortable as possible until surgical attention could be had. In the afternoon doctors Reed, Brand and Cooper amputated the member just below the knee, and if he survives the shock sufficiently to stand the trip he will be removed to his home to-day.

The spot where the accident occurred is nothing less than a trap and similar occurrences are bound to occur unless something is done to prevent them.

The Ladies' Mite Society of the Third Street M. E. Church will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Mrs. C. E. Nauman of West Mayeville. Members will meet at west end of car line at 1:30 and walk from there in a body.

Mr. Hal Curran will leave to-morrow for St. Louis. After taking in the World's Fair, he and Commissioner William H. Cox will go to San Francisco, the latter as Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Mr. Curran as Assistant Grand Secretary.

Dr. Leslie Brand has in his office a fine specimen of the pepin variety of apple. It measures fifteen and one-half inches around, is perfectly solid and is of fine flavor. It was raised on Mrs. Kilgore's place in the Mayslick neighborhood and took the blue ribbon at the Ewing fair.

William Hickie, allegedly drunk, selected a soft spot on the C. and O. trestle at the foot of Wall street for an afternoon siesta. Along came a freight train which refused to side-track until Bill slept off the booze. Result, a fractured skull and broken leg. Dr. Reed is doing his best to get Hickie on his feet again.

MAYSVILLE PASTORS REMAIN.

Methodist Episcopal Church Conference at Lexington Adjourned to Meet at Covington Next Year.

The Kentucky conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Lexington came to an end Monday after one of the best and most interesting sessions it has ever held. The next meeting will be held at Scott Street Church, Covington, in September, 1905.

The most important business closing day was the reading of assignments of ministers for the coming year. The following is a list for this district:

J. R. Doering, Presiding Elder, Maysville—C. F. Evans, East Maysville—H. E. Roseberry, Mt. Carmel—J. W. Gardner, Germantown—S. H. Pollitt, Mt. Olive—J. W. Harris, Hillsboro—J. W. West, Toltlesboro—F. M. Palmer, Tilton—W. W. Spates, Flemingsburg—W. S. Greenstead, Vanceburg—B. F. Crosby, Bethel and Sharpsburg—J. T. J. Fizer, Moorfield—W. L. Clark, North Middletown—F. B. Jones, Salt Well—E. K. Kidwell, Carlisle—F. M. Hill, Shannon and Sardis—W. T. Ekler, Washington and Hebron—George Froh, Missionary Secretary—E. C. Savage, Little Rock—F. P. Jones, Fairview Mission—J. R. Word.

Dr. Evans and Rev. Roseberry's friends will be delighted to learn that they remain in charge of their congregations at this point.

A greater part of Monday morning's session was devoted to a motion to locate Rev. W. A. Penn of this city, and to exact from him a promise not to engage in secular employment. The Herald says the discussion was characterized by considerable feeling and brought forth an eloquent defense from Mr. Penn. The motion was finally dropped without being put to a vote.

The charges against Mr. Penn are rather unique. It was stated by members favoring the motion that Mr. Penn engaged in secular pursuit to the detriment of his pastoral duties; that he owned and operated a farm and was well known in the various seats of adjoining counties as a "horse trader." One specific charge was that he had left his church before the evening service on Sunday to go to an adjoining town to be present on court day to indulge in cattle and horse trading.

It was urged by speakers that a minister should devote his whole time and effort to the church over which he has charge, and that it is improper for any minister to engage in secular pursuits. More than a score of speeches were made upon the motion and the question was handled without gloves.

Mr. Penn was present to conduct his defense, which he did most eloquently and effectively. He said that his salary derived from the church was not sufficient to support his family of five members. It was, therefore, necessary to augment it by other pursuits, or leave the ministry. He threw down the gauntlet and challenged any minister present to point to a single instance in which he had neglected his pastoral duties, or had been guilty of an act unbefitting to his high calling. He pointed to his church, prosperous and satisfied with his ministrations, and closed with a touching expression of his love for the ministry and his devotion to his chosen work, saying that he had remained in it under circumstances that were often hardships to himself and family—but hardships that were gladly and faithfully borne.

The motion was finally dismissed without being put to a vote.

Rev. W. H. Bolster, Pastor of the Congregational Church, Dorchester, Mass., is reported to have said of the "Sign of the Cross" which is to appear at Washington Opera House on the 15th inst:

When good people attend good plays, beautiful and wholesome, and "boycot" the unwholesome, then will the stage begin to fulfill its mission and produce the right sort of plays. And clergy-men ought to set a good example by attending such a play as you so courteously invited me to attend.

Editor Marsh of the BULLETIN is at home ill, threatened with fever. He has not been a well man for a long while, but, like many others who have been in the harness a lifetime, he refused to give up as long as he could keep going. His fellow-workers trust his illness will be of brief duration.

Rev. R. E. Moss has received a call from the Fourth Street Christian Church at Covington at a handsome salary.
